Hello Antony,

I want to bring to your attention that payslips are generated through our automated process based on periodic salary disbursement. Given the nature of your request, retrieving older versions of payslips from our mail box presents a practical challenge, as it contains a substantial volume of emails. The task of identifying payslip emails for each year, month by month, is quite cumbersome for us.

I hope you understand the complexity of the situation. I recommend considering your experience certificate and relieving letters issued by Fingent as proof of your employment. Additionally, you can use your bank account statements to highlight salary credits, which can serve as further authorization of your employment with Fingent during these years.

Best Regards,
